

I design products and ship the production software that runs them — turning design intent into working code with AI.

Experience

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|
| •FlytBaseProduct Designer &amp; AI Builder Intern                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Jan 2026 – PresentPune, India         |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Shipped 3 products 0→1 as sole owner — problem framing through production deployment, release notes, and usage tracking.</li><li>- Enabled AI build tools to produce on-brand output across 100+ components by making the FlytBase Figma design system machine-readable.</li><li>- Built the Flink Factory marketplace end-to-end: brand identity, admin CMS with rich-text editing, 6-preset theme system, tag filters, and feature-request intake.</li><li>- Shipped production systems on REST APIs, WebSockets, webhooks, Supabase Edge Functions, and Postgres RLS with no CS background, using AI to write client-facing code.</li></ul> |                                                  |
| •ORO Precious MetalsUX Designer Intern                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | May 2025 – Jun 2025Navi Mumbai, India |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Made a 70,000-piece jewellery catalogue shoppable for B2B buyers, turning high-volume ordering findable and fast.</li><li>- Shipped the customer-facing website wireframe-to-production, owning the developer handoff solo.</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                  |
| •DRefleqtionUI Designer Intern                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Dec 2023 – May 2024Mumbai, India      |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Led UI for a fintech client’s mobile and web platforms, shipping gamification and engagement systems that drove repeat use.</li><li>- Owned design end-to-end — decisions and client deliverables — when the studio’s UX lead became unavailable.</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                  |

Selected Products

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| •Live Incident Response React, TypeScript, Supabase, CesiumJS, Claude Code                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | FlytBase • 0→1 • 2026     |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Cut stakeholder onboarding during a live incident from ~15 min to under 30 sec — one live room for feeds, map, and annotations, no account or install.</li><li>- Shipped 2 major versions in 8 weeks: multi-drone feeds, 3D map, chat translated across 9 languages, role-based access.</li><li>- Eliminated a production race condition corrupting participant state via Postgres row-locking, after diagnosing a last-writer-wins bug.</li></ul> |                                  |
| •Verkos Reports React, VLM orchestration, in-browser PDF, Claude Code                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | FlytBase • AI • 2026      |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Cut post-patrol reporting from 30-60 min to under 5 by querying a vision-language model for detections into a review-and-confirm flow.</li><li>- Caught detections the model rated at 0% confidence via a WebSocket listener and voice-note capture keyed to each flight.</li><li>- Built 30+ components across 18 routes with in-browser PDF generation, built to hold up through 12-hour night shifts.</li></ul>                          |                                  |
| •ORO Edit Figma, Blender                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Live site • Luxury • 2025 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Shipped the live customer-facing site for a luxury jewellery brand — visual identity, responsive layouts, product pages, wireframe to production.</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                  |

Skills

|                                                                                                                                                           |  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Build &amp; AI: Claude Code, Cursor, Lovable, Claude API, agent orchestration, prompt engineering, VLM integration, design-system-to-spec for LLMs |  |
| Engineering: React, TypeScript, Supabase (Postgres, Edge Functions, RLS, Realtime), REST APIs, WebSockets, webhooks, CesiumJS                      |  |
| Design: Product & interaction design, 0→1 product thinking, system design, information architecture, user research, usability testing              |  |
| Tools: Figma, GitHub, Framer, ProtoPie, Spline, Unicorn Studio                                                                                     |  |

Education

|                                                                                                     |                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| •Bachelor of Design (User Experience Design)MIT Institute of Design (MITID), Pune | 2022 – 2026CGPA: 8.14 |
| •Higher Secondary (CBSE)Sai RNS Academy, Guwahati                                 | 2020 – 202285%        |